

WE ARE HIRING !

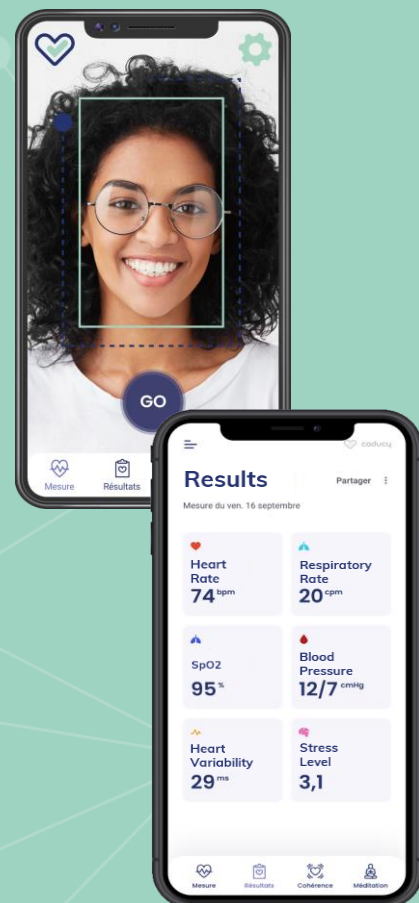

GRAPHIC DESIGNER INTERNSHIP

i-Virtual

i-Virtual is the French specialist in the measurement of vital signs by camera. Using advanced techniques such as signal analysis and Artificial Intelligence Photoplethysmography and DeepLearning, i-Virtual is developing an innovative solution that measures vital signs remotely, contactless and with a smartphone.

After 7 years of Research and Development, its medical device called Caducy is in the final phase of market access and intends to revolutionize the telemedicine industry by allowing the measurement of physiological parameters by making a simple 30-second video selfie.

Supported by ELAIA and MAJYCC (€2.5m raised in January 2021), major players in the Deeptech and health sector, i-Virtual will build its future in Europe but also internationally.

The e-health environment has a great work environment and offers a lot of freedom of expression for a future and talented Graphic Designer. We offer you a work-study program of at least one year starting in September with great learning prospects and missions from all sides. This will allow you to have experience in almost all areas of creation!

Participate in the entire process of designing the company's communication graphics. Our future Graphic Designer will support the marketing, development and quality teams.

The targets of our communications are the actors of telemedicine, insurance, pure players of teleconsultation in Europe and in the world.
